IT Companies find hard to recruit right candidates

Brijesh George John, Associate Professor, Marian College, Kuttikkanam, Chairman – Placement Officers Kerala Group

“Water, Water Everywhere, but not a drop to drink”.

This is the situation of many IT companies looking for talents from our campuses. It’s literally true that, number of engineering colleges in Kerala as well as the recruitment drives are increasing day by day, but IT companies find it hard to recruit the right talent.

The placement scenario in the state is going through a turnaround situation. Earlier there were lot of students with excellent academics and talents were looking for an opportunity in reputed IT companies. But now the situation has changed. Many IT companies, including MNCs are ready to recruit students from Kerala, but fails to find the right fix......
